

Community in Nature Schools Award

The Community in Nature Schools Award is a biennial recognition scheme to acknowledge, appreciate and celebrate the work of our schools, as well as to motivate educators and students to contribute to local biodiversity conservation efforts. It aims to:

- Encourage stakeholders from the education sector to take on a more active role to conserve our biodiversity.
- Provide a networking platform for schools to share and exchange biodiversity-related knowledge and experiences.

This year, we received 70 nominations for the different award categories. The winners are as follows:
