

Four-lined Tree Frog

(Polypedates leucomystax)

Did you know?

The Four-lined Tree Frog lays its eggs in vegetation that overhangs a pond, in a foamy mass that is glued to the vegetation. When the eggs hatch, the tadpoles fall into the water below to begin their lives.

nparksbuzz

Share your love for nature with us at #nparksbuzz